Newsletter of the Lake County Retired Teachers Association

Volume 54 No.2 March, 2018

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE...

The daffodils will be blooming before we know it and soon Spring will be upon is. Our April meeting will be held ONE WEEK earlier than the usual schedule because we will be holding a combined meeting with the Geauga County Retired Teachers Association. This meeting will be at Quail Hollow on Tuesday, April 3, 2018, beginning with the Social Hour at 11:00am. We will be in the VE-RANDA Room.

Recommended parking is in the upper lot (on the west end of the building)— when you turn into the driveway-make an immediate right, going up the hill to the parking lot. To enter from this lot, there is a door with 3 steps, or a ramp off to the left. If you park in the lower lot, enter thru the lobby, take the elevator up one level, and walk to the far end of the corridor.

Our program for this meeting will be one of great interest with many questions. Ohio Representative John Patterson and Senator John Eklund will be our guests to speak on and answer questions about the "State of Education in Ohio."

The reservation form for your luncheon can be found on page 3 of the Newsletter. We have a new member who has volunteered to take over the meeting arrangements. Your reservation forms now are sent to Susan McCarter. Her address can be found on the reservation form. PLEASE NOTE: There is an absolute deadline for the return of these reservation forms. NO reservations will be accepted after March 26.

The Education System in Ohio is important to all of us, working or retired. It is important that we keep knowledgeable on what is happening and keep our Federal and State Representatives informed as to our thoughts for or against.

Informative and Protective Services... Terri Herbert Emergency Preparedness: Tornadoes

Over the coming months I plan to discuss many different kinds of emergencies and how to best to prepare for different potentially catastrophic events. Preparedness involves a continuous process of planning, equipping, training and exercising. With the upcoming tornado season, we will look at preparing for tornadoes this month.

Most of us have lived in this area for a long time and have taught our students what to do in the event of a tornado during school hours. But is your plan for yourself in place? Have you thought/walked through and revised it lately? As we age and become less mobile it may impact our plan. As we move from a home with a full basement to an apartment or condo it will certainly mean creating a new plan.

Planning for a tornado involves identifying WHERE you will go. If you have a basement go there. Stay away from windows and get under a heavy piece of furniture, if possible, or crouch down and cover your head. If you have no basement identify an interior room or hallway with no windows where you can go. This should be on the lowest level of your structure. Stay away from corners and outside walls as debris collects in those areas. If you are in a manufactured home have a designated safe place that you can get to. Get there quickly before a watch becomes a warning. If you are outside with no shelter get in a vehicle, buckle your seat belt and cover your head. Never take cover under a bridge or overpass. If necessary, lie in a low area or ditch and cover your head.

It is critical to know the difference between a tornado WATCH and WARNING. A watch means conditions are right for a tornado to occur. Check your supply kits and be ready to move and take shelter. Listen to NOAA radio or local TV stations for the latest information. A WARNING means a threat is imminent and a tornado has been sited. Act IMMEDIATELY!

When you head to your safe place be sure to have a "Go Bag" or "Bug Out Bag" prepared in advance and ready to grab at a moment's notice to take with you. We will talk much more about Bug Out Bags in the coming months, but have a some your medications in that bag, important papers (in waterproof containers) such as insurance policies, identification, etc. cell phone, radio, flashlight, whistle, first aid kit, spare clothing and at least a 3 day supply of food and water. Remember that in the aftermath you could be without electric, gas, water, transportation, communication and other services.

Legislative News.....Tom Moscovic

Another Bunch of Information for You to Ponder...

Local School Districts Stand to Recover Money Lost to Troubled Charter Schools with the House Passage of HB 87.

Finally some good news from Columbus. This bill, with passage by the Ohio Senate and signature by Governor Kasich will guarantee that recovered monies collected dishonestly by charter schools will be returned to the home district and not to the General or Rainy Day Fund!!

HB 87 was passed 94-2 by the Ohio House on March 7, 2018. OEA worked with Rep. Kristina Roegner (R-Hudson) and the bill's bi-partisan co-sponsors to secure overwhelming support for this important charter school financial accountability bill. State Auditor Dave Yost also voiced strong support.

The bill requires any public funds that are reclaimed by the state based on a finding of recovery against a charter school for fraudulently over-reporting enrollment to be returned to the school districts from which the funds were initially deducted. Ohio law is currently silent on where the state should send these recovered funds.

The House passage of HB87 by a vote of 94-2 comes after recently passing stronger charter student residency verification requirements in HB 21 (R-Hambley) by a vote of 94-0. HB 21 has received three hearings in the Senate Education Committee thus far and is likely to be approved eventually by the Senate.

Republican Lawmakers Push to Make Ohio "Right to Work"

Right to Work is an effort to break the Unions and take away their Bargaining Power. After the huge defeat of Senate Bill 5 in 2011, Governor Kasich has no interest in Right to Work. He has on numerous occasions indicated that Ohio does not need this Legislation!

This article was written by Jim Provance, Blade Columbus Bureau Chief

Columbus - More than six years after voters resoundingly rejected similar proposals at the polls, a package of proposed constitutional amendments have been introduced to make Ohio the 29th state to enact "Right to

A may be for Apple, but P is for Paper such as Paper Products. For our April meeting collection to give aid to a local organization, please consider bringing some paper product with you to the luncheon which I will deliver to The Salvation Army in Painesville. Items needed include paper towels, toilet paper, tissues, as well as paper napkins. There will be an area on or under the registration table for you to place your contribution. Also, look there for the basket into which to place any cancelled postage stamps you have been saving. They are sent to the VA Hospital where they are used during craft classes.

Another basket will be available to collect your tear-off slips (on the back page of this newsletter) indicating your Volunteer Hours from last November through March. If you forget to bring your slip, additional forms will be available by the basket. Thank you in advance for caring and helping with these three worthwhile projects.

Six measures, all requiring voter approval, would undercut the clout of private and public-sector labor unions by prohibiting collection of so-called "fair share" fees in lieu of dues from workers who refuse to join a union and forbidding union spending of dues or fees on political activity without workers' consent.....

Similar legislative efforts have gone nowhere in recent years in the General Assembly following the stinging defeat of Senate Bill 5. Voters forced a repeal of the law, which focused on clipping the power of public-employee labor unions.

Unlike Senate Bill 5, the newest effort would not restrict what can be on the bargaining table in terms of salary and benefits. Instead, it largely targets union finances. The resolutions are sponsored by State Rep. Joh Becker (R.,Cincinnati), who has pushed similar measures in the past without success, and freshman State Rep. Craig Riedel (R., Defiance) they have been joined by as many as seven of the chamber's more conservative members as co-sponsorsnone from northwest Ohio-on some of the proposals.

"It's not so much that I'm opposed to unions," Mr. Reidel said. "I believe strongly that employees ought not to be required to pay fair-share fees if they choose not to join that union. If that individual chooses not to be a part of that union, they're on their own. They would not get any representation whatsoever by that collective-bargaining agreement."
